A SOUTHEND animator who produces work under the name of 'The GagaMan', has created a 30-second animation for the Southend Film Festival.

Aaron Foster's spoof celebrates some of the town's most well-known buildings.

The piece features King Kong with a gorilla on the Kursaal, a monster using the Park Inn Palace as a piano and a chicken playing Tetris with the University of Essex student accommodation.

The 24-year-old graduated from South Essex College with a BA (Hons) in Digital Animation.

Aaron said: "I wanted to show off the sights of Southend but have a little bit of fun with it and get a laugh out of people.

"The inspiration behind it was the student accommodation; it was just something I imagined as I walked past it. My brain is always working overtime about different types of animations I can produce."

The animation took around three weeks to put together and a month of planning.

Aaron produced the piece after being approached by The White Bus, the company behind the Southend Film Festival, which runs from Thursday, April 28, until Monday, May 2.

CURTAIN TO RISE ON FILM FESTIVAL

By Karen Davis

SOUTHEND will be celebrating its third annual film festival later this month.

The main festival, which is organised by The White Bus on behalf of Southend Council, runs from Thursday, April 28, to Monday, May 2.

This year the focus of the festival will be on the British independent scene, with nine new British films and documentaries being screened.

Festival director Paul Cotgrove, of The White Bus, said: "The Southend Film Festival is growing up fast and has already become the largest film festival in Essex."

The main festival opens on Thursday, April 28, with a gala celebration to mark the 30th anniversary of the classic British gangster thriller, The Long Good Friday, starring Bob Hoskins.

Members of the cast, crew and celebrities will be attending the event, which will be held at the Odeon Cinema, in Victoria Circus, at the top of Southend High Street. Tickets cost £13.

Legendary movie hardman, Ray Winstone, will open the evening by addressing filmgoers in his capacity as the festival's newly appointed patron.

The main festival closes, more than 50 films and events later, on Monday, May 2, with an exclusive gala preview of Being Sold.

The comedy drama is centred on John Foster, a man forced to sell himself on eBay to regain his self-respect.

The Festival Fringe runs from Tuesday, April

26, until Wednesday, May 4, at various venues around the town.

For a full rundown of the festival programme, visit www.southendfilmfestival.com

Most tickets are priced at £3 and a number of events are free.

South Essex College is hosting a series of free events at its Southend Campus during the festival, including workshops with film industry professionals on scriptwriting and making your first low budget feature, as well as inspirational screenings of short films and animations from its Media and Creative Arts degree students.

Places are strictly limited - for more information or to book, call 0845 52 12345 or e-mail learning@southessex.ac.uk

Exhibition

SOUTHEND Library will be holding an exhibition by Tim Smith, entitled Essex and Beyond, from Wednesday, April 27, until Tuesday, May 10.

Specialising in landscape photography and inspired by such renowned photographers as Joe Cornish and Charlie Adams, Tim hopes to share his own pleasure of finding and creating an image with his audience.

Having a laugh

THE Trinity Players will be performing a comedy, entitled Sailor Beware! at Trinity Parish House, in Southchurch Boulevard, Southend.

The show will run from Thursday to Saturday, May 12 to 14, and there will also be refreshments and a raffle.

Tickets cost £6, or £5 for concessions - for more, call 01702 584201. Tickets will also be available on the door.

Life is a rollercoaster for family of crows

A FAMILY of crows is being taken for a ride at a Southend amusement park.

The birds have happily taken up residence on top of the Rage rollercoaster at Adventure Island, on Southend seafront.

With a 75ft drop, loops, twists and a 360 degree barrel roll, the ride was voted the most thrilling rollercoaster in the UK by BBC1's Blue Peter - however, now this feathered family have declared it the best place to live.

Adventure Island general manager, Robert Roberts, said: "We noticed the birds building the nest and moving in a couple of days ago.

"We see them flying back and forth all day."

"The park is open daily at the moment, so Rage is running from 11am until early evening, but it does not seem to deter the crows at all."

"They must be rollercoaster fans - when the cars go by they keep saying 'Corr'."

Mr Roberts confirmed that park staff will be leaving the nest where it is after engineers examined both the rollercoaster and the nest carefully, and declared it perfectly safe for both humans and birds.

Information appeal after sexual assault on Southend seafront

By Karen Davis

A TEENAGE girl has been sexually assaulted on Southend seafront.

Police are appealing for information after the assault on Friday, April 8.

Officers received a call at 11.30pm from a young teenage girl who reported that she had been sexually assaulted in an area on Marine Parade, behind Adventure Island, at about 10.30pm.

Officers are keen to speak to a group of teenage boys, including two described as being between 16 and 17.

The first boy is described as white, of average height and build, with black hair. He was wearing beige shorts, a blue polo shirt and white Vans trainers.

The second boy had blonde or brown hair, was of a large build and was wearing a pink polo shirt.

Detective Inspector Colin Norton, from the serious crime team at Southend, said: "The two boys were with a group of around 20 other young people, who we think started out on the arcade side of the road, but then crossed over to the beach.

"I am extremely keen to hear from anyone who may be able to help us with our investigation.

"The girl spoke to several people before and after the assault took place, and I'm confident that those people will be able to help us."

The girl, who was with a similar aged friend, was in the area from 7.45pm onwards. One was wearing a light-coloured denim top, and the other a black top.

Both girls were wearing leggings.

Anyone with information should contact the serious crime team at Southend police station on 0300 333 4444.

Alternatively, call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Stroke expert at conference

A STROKE consultant at Southend Hospital is to speak at a national stroke conference this month.

Dr Paul Guyler will present his speech, Improving the Stroke Pathway, which is being held in London on Thursday, April 28.

The conference has been organised by Health Service Journal magazine and is endorsed by The Stroke Association.

Dr Guyler said: "This promises to be a very interesting conference because its theme is looking at how the national stroke agenda is being implemented at a local level with an emphasis on practical examples of how stroke survivors' lives have been improved."

Old chapel given new lease of life

By Karen Davis

DOZENS of schoolchildren were on hand to mark the restoration of a derelict chapel, which came within a whisker of being consigned to the annals of history.

Council officials were disappointed in 2008 when their bid for BIG Lottery funding to rebuild the former Prittlewell Chapel in North Road, Southend, was rejected.

And the fate of the historic chapel looked to be sealed when what remained of the ramshackle building was almost totally gutted in a fire attack by vandals in November 2009.

Southend Council appointed a firm of contractors to oversee the demolition of the building, which would have sounded the chapel's death knell.

In desperation, they went back to the BIG Lottery to see if there was the slightest hope of any funding that could save the chapel - and their persistence paid off.

The council learned that one of the other projects that beat them to the original funding was no longer going ahead.

BIG Lottery officials had been scouring their reserve list of worthy projects, trying to work out which project should benefit.

Southend Council reapplied at just the right time - and now the chapel's future is secure.

Eighteen months on from the fire, the building has been lovingly restored using as many of the original materials as possible.

It has now been handed over to Southend Association for Voluntary Services, which will oversee its use as two small office units for hire by local voluntary organisations.

STUNNING: The new-look Prittlewell Chapel (above) gets some colourful new flowerbeds, thanks to children from Westborough School (inset).

The editor formally known as

Fidge

I LIKE to think of myself as a pretty decent and courteous driver.

I let people out of side turnings, I slow down to let people change lanes in front of me and sometimes I wave through an oncoming car when I have right of way.

And when I get cut up or beeped to get out of the way when I'm only doing 50mph in a 50mph zone, I don't throw my toys out the pram.

But what has been getting increasingly on my goat is people's seeming ignorance of the rules of using roundabouts.

It's not even the giving way to the right, it's generally those alongside me when on the move. They seem to ignore the road markings and cut across in front of me when I'm on the inside or drift far too wide when I'm on the outside.

There also seems to be a complete disregard for the approach lanes. If you want to turn right and there are three lanes, get in the right-hand lane not the left.

Similarly, if you want to go straight on, don't get into the right-turn only lane.

What makes this worse is that a lot of motorists seem unable to use their indicators when traversing a roundabout.

If you make a genuine mistake and get in the wrong lane on the approach, use your indicators and show a little patience.

The worst of all offenders though are the ones who ignore all these rules. They approach the roundabout - usually at speed - hopping across the lanes without indicating and then drive as direct as possible despite it being called a ROUNDabout, cutting up at will.

These are the types of people who get me hooting my horn.

■ Southend's Mod revival

The image has become the defining symbol of the Mod movement, despite Raymond's early death at the age of 17 in 1965.

The picture has appeared in books and magazines, on mugs, purses, handbags, clocks and even on television.

Even Sting's famous 'Aceface' character in the film Quadrophenia is strikingly similar to Raymond.

Mrs Barrett said: "It's nice that my brother is remembered. But it would be great to find out where the photo was taken, and why it appears almost every time a newspaper or magazine needs a photo to illustrate Mods."

Recently, the photo was prominently displayed in a TV advertisement for Liverpool Victoria insurance, fronted by Cilla Black.

Mrs Barrett, who runs Prestige Dry Cleaners, in The Approach, Rayleigh, said: "I made contact with the insurance company and asked who was in charge of their advertisements, but I had little joy."

Dean Kelly, Raymond's nephew, saw the photo in a Leigh shop window in 2004.

Initially, he thought it was his father, but discovered it was his father's late twin.

The image also appears in the current catalogues for Ben

Sherman and Lee Cooper.

It is believed the image first appeared on the front of the weekly music magazine, New Musical Express, in 1979 as part of a feature on a Mod revival.

Sandra, who lived in Hainault Avenue, Westcliff, with her brothers in the 1960s, said: "I only discovered that when a book called Mods had a reproduction of the front cover."

If you have information about the whereabouts of Raymond's photograph, call Sandra on 01702 231939 or 01268 784222.

WHERE IS THE ORIGINAL?

Skaters to host new roller derby in town

By Karen Davis

A GROUP of roller skating ladies are about to hold the first ever roller derby in Southend.

The Seaside Siren Roller Girls will present a Brawl At Sea at Garon Park Leisure Centre on Saturday, April 23.

The girls have recently appeared on Daybreak and This Morning, and have also featured in Whip It – a Hollywood movie by Drew Barrymore – which was inspired by the game.

Lauren Burles (aka Lagy GoreGore) said: "Roller derby is an all-rocking, all-rolling women's sport that is sweeping the nation."

"The Brawl at Sea will be the first ever live roller derby game in Essex, and the event will be an afternoon of high-octane, action-packed sports entertainment for all the family."

Once the action is over, over-18s will be invited to get on down to The Alex, in Alexandra Street, to dance the night away at an after-party.

Tickets to the roller derby cost £10.50 for adults and £5.50 for children aged 12 and under. Under fives can get in for free.

For further information, visit the Seaside Siren Roller Girls website at www.seasideirenrollergirls.com

Library plan unveiled

By Karen Davis

THIS is how the planned new library in Southend town centre will look.

The £27million, four-storey project in Elmer Square will house the library, a cafe, a lecture theatre, meeting rooms, music/art studios and the Focal Point Art Gallery.

The library will be built on site of the old Farringdon car park. There will also be a public square outside.

The building is a collaboration between Southend Council, Essex University and South Essex College, with the organisations spending £12.5m, £10.4m and £4m respectively.

A full planning application will be submitted to Southend Council next month.

Construction is scheduled to start at the beginning of 2012 and finish in late 2013.

THE FUTURE: An artist's impression of the modern new library development that has been proposed for Elmer Square, and (below) how the site looks now, as Farringdon car park.

A GROUP of residents joined together to clean up their neighbourhood last weekend.

The area near Ferndown Close and Southchurch Road had become a dumping ground so prospective ward councillor, Neil Austin, initiated a social action project with the support of local residents.

The corner plot of land is privately owned, but had been left derelict and unkempt.

This led to a build up of rubbish, which attracted mice and other vermin to the area.

Drug paraphernalia had also been found on the site, and residents were concerned for their children's safety.

On Sunday, April 17, the team spent the day clearing the site and made it a more pleasant feature of the local area.

Mr Austin said: "We had a great day getting the area clear, and making it into a more pleasant space.

"This one day of work has made a huge difference to local people, and was a good opportunity to strengthen the sense of community as we all worked together."

COMMUNITY CLEAN-UP:
Residents from Ferndown Close and Southchurch Road helped to clean up their neighbourhood.

Help police find man

ESSEX Police is asking for the public's help to trace 50-year-old Paul Blackford, who has links to the Southend and Pitsea areas.

Blackford is described as 5ft 11in, of heavy build, with short dark brown hair and hazel eyes.

He is clean shaven and talks with a London accent.

Blackford is wanted on recall to prison. His original offence was conspiracy to import drugs.

Anyone with information about Blackford's whereabouts is asked to contact Inspector Dickel at Southend police station on 0300 333 4444.

Alternatively, you can call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

WANTED: Essex Police is trying to trace Paul Blackford.

Southend's double glazing company

Southern Glass offer an impressive range of home improvement products which includes PVC-U windows and doors and extends to bespoke conservatory and porch construction.

Another area of expertise is the installation of maintenance free roofline materials including fascias, soffits, guttering and cladding. A recent addition to the company's product range is the "Firestone" flat roofing system which replaces those tired looking felt roofs providing an extra long life finish, again with no maintenance.

Sales manager Paul Elliott has seen the advantages that an increased product range offers its customers, "most customers do not have time to source quotations for a wide variety of work today, so at Southern Glass we are able to offer a professional service, a comprehensive range of products with specialist installers, ensuring a high quality finish".

Protect your car

By Karen Davis

POLICE are investigating an unusual spate of thefts from cars, after five incidents were reported in the same street.

Cars in Ennismore Gardens, Southend, have been targeted in the past fortnight.

The first offence happened between 9pm on Sunday, March 27, and 2pm the following day, where access was gained to a Vauxhall and a Sat Nav and mobile phone stolen.

The next involved a Ford Fiesta and the thief stole paperwork from the glovebox.

A further three incidents have been reported in recent days - with a Peugeot 206 entered between 7pm on Friday, April 8, and 9.15am on Sunday, April 10.

Between 9am on Saturday, April 9, and 1.30pm on Sunday, April 10, a Toyota Carina was entered and a Sat Nav was taken.

Finally, between 11pm on Saturday, April 9, and 9.25am on Sunday, April 10, a VW Golf was accessed and again a Sat Nav and small change was removed from within.

PC Stephen Baker is investigating the spate of thefts.

He said: "It's highly unusual for the same street to be targeted like this, so we would therefore strongly advise motorists to ensure they never leave items of value inside their vehicles."

PC Baker can be contacted at Shoebury police station on 0300 333 4444.

NHS South East Essex is reminding patients to make sure they have enough medication for the Bank Holiday period.

With four holidays on the horizon, when most GP practices will be closed and pharmacy opening hours may be different to usual, it is really important that patients plan ahead and order their repeat prescriptions in good time.

In the last year, the Primary Care Trust has seen an increasing number of requests for repeat prescriptions through the GP out-of-hours service, which is intended to provide urgent medical care when GPs are unavailable.

Simon Williams, associate director of community pharmacy and medicines management at NHS South East Essex, said: "We advise patients, particularly those with a long-term condition, to plan ahead so they have sufficient medication for the holiday period."

"Using the GP out-of-hours service, which can easily be avoided with some forward planning, puts additional pressures on the system at one of its busiest times."

The following dates are Bank Holidays, when GP and pharmacy opening times may be different to usual:

- Friday, April 22 (Easter Friday)
- Monday, April 25 (Easter Monday)
- Friday, April 29 (Royal wedding)
- Monday, May 2 (Spring Bank Holiday)

Computer scam

SOUTHEND Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnership (CDRP) is warning people about a computer scam that claims to remove viruses from personal computers.

A Southend resident received a telephone call from a man with an Indian accent who said he was contacting computer users to find out if they were experiencing slow response speeds.

The caller proceeded to run through a programme, which he said would enable the resident to see if there were any computer viruses.

When the resident said their machine had been running slow, the caller transferred them to a technician.

If you receive a similar call, report it to Consumer Direct on 08454 040506.

Epilepsy support

THE next meeting of the South East Essex Epilepsy Support Group will take place on Wednesday, April 27, at the Naval & Military Club, Royal Terrace, Southend from 7.30pm.

Anyone with an interest in epilepsy is welcome to attend. A guest speaker from the NHS Trainer Service will attend to give a brief talk on healthy lifestyles. For more details, e-mail Peter Hall on peter.jhall@tiscali.co.uk.

Attempted robbery

A WOMAN was the victim of an attempted handbag snatch in Westcliff.

The 51-year-old was walking along North Road at 9.10am on Friday, April 8, when a cyclist tried to grab her purse as he passed but was unsuccessful.

The suspect is described as a black man, aged about 30, of stocky build, with short tight curly hair of a reddish-brown colour. He wore blue jeans and a khaki green polo shirt and was riding on a small light blue bicycle - contact PC Davis with any information on 0300 333 4444.

Wages stolen

A MAN was robbed of his wages in Southend.

At around 6.50pm on Thursday, April 7, the 34-year-old was walking along York Road, counting his earnings.

Three men approached him near the junction with Albert Road and one asked him to go to the car park. When the victim refused, a second man reached inside the victim's pocket and removed over £100 before the third man punched the victim in the face.

The trio made off in a silver car, which is believed to have been a newer-shape VW Golf.

One of the suspects was black, about 5ft 10ins, in his mid-20s and of medium build. He wore a jogging top and jeans. The two other suspects were both also in their mid-20s. One was black and one was white.

Investigating officer, PC McCorkell can be contacted at Southend police station on 0300 333 4444.

Opinion and readers' letters

No wonder we don't see police on the streets

NOW that Southend Police have delegated staff at Adventure Island, Southend, similar powers to themselves, having on previous occasion called on taxi drivers to keep their eyes open while out at night, and having other people who are civilians on the streets with speed-guns helping with their fundraising, is it any wonder that one seldom sees a proper cop walking the streets in Southend?

It is enough to make one wonder why there is concern in regards to any cutback on the police services.

Chas Cheesman, Southend

Government should look at itself first

IF THE government wants to save money (improve its finances, if not its image), it should start with itself.

As most of us cannot indiscriminately grab money from all the passers by, the most obvious step to any normal being would be to cut expenses - and the Government employees' salaries and other 'benefits' (including outrageous pensions that mere mortals can only dream about) appear to be the most obvious - and attainable - option.

I would like to suggest that all government employees join the real world and only get the general pension that the rest of us have been sponsoring and are dewy-eyed about receiving.

Another way to cut unnecessary costs would be to close down all the quangos.

I think I have just balanced the budget!

Next, to start paying down the mountain of debt, we should stop sponsoring having more than two children (especially by single welfare mothers). Let's discontinue the tax breaks and cut off welfare payments for the excess brood.

We don't need them, we have no room for them and it would certainly reduce the future unemployment levels and the demand for housing.

After all, we are not cattle and do not need to participate in the politicians' and the clergy's foolish attempts to enlarge 'their' herds, in order to prolong their pyramid games.

The horse has bolted and the politicians are working hard on pretending that they care - by planning to close the gate on reckless banks by separating retail banking from the riskier investment side.

This was their reaction in the US in the 1930s, after the last major economic meltdown.

They came up with the Glass-Stegall Act, which lasted until the late 1980s when the Congress started to chip away at it, until its tennets completely disappeared by the early 1990s.

And then the feasting began.

Fred Nicholson, Westcliff

Realising the importance of tourism

STEVE Lawton of Milton Ward Conservatives claims (YA Letters, Apr 13) that I was wrong in my criticism of Milton's Conservative newsletter as it was talking about national rather than local policy on tourism.

Perhaps I should apologise for assuming that a local Conservative leaflet might have anything interesting to say about local issues.

Of course, that he has to explain it at all is an admission of the Conservative leaflet's failings.

The thrust of what they are saying seems to be that Southend was neglected by the previous government.

It is indicative of the confusion in the local Conservative party that they cannot make up their mind whether they want to take credit for projects funded by the Labour government, such as City Beach, or blame the government for spending too much money. Unfortunately local decisions made by Conservative Councillors have undermined Southend's appeal as a town, and that is the real issue that they want to avoid.

For example, repealing the licensing policy that restricts the numbers of pubs and clubs in the centre of town, combined with a cut in police numbers, will not help us market Southend as a family friendly destination.

The doomed super-casino plan and the ill-fated City of Culture bid are examples of how the Conservatives are clutching at straws and have neither the ability nor vision to take our town forward.

Also ignored is that this town has had Tory MPs, a Tory council, and Tory governments for the vast majority of its existence, an existence brought about by tourism. (The growth from a disparate clutch of fishing villages to a seaside town came once the railway and the day-trippers it brought enabled it.)

To talk about the importance of tourism just now being acknowledged some two centuries after it became the town's economic driver is either daft or stupid.

Perhaps the next In Touch will deliver paeans to the arrival of electricity or the wonders of the horseless carriage.

*Julian Ware-Lane
Labour candidate for Milton
Leigh-on-Sea*

A drive to public transport

THE recent increases in car parking to raise revenue are necessary and will encourage greater use of public transport.

If you are not happy about the increases do not use the car parks and prices will eventually be reduced.

There are far too many cars in Southend town centre many of which are unnecessary.

The two roads that cross the High Street, should be blocked off, they are an accident waiting to happen.

David Barratt, Westcliff

Pros and cons of renovations

THE amount of work carried out on the renovation of the seafront has improved the area immensely.

The concrete lights were a cost and feature that was unnecessary.

I have some concerns that the fountain will remain open to allow access to people. The one installed in Clacton has recently had railings erected around it to prevent access, due to health and safety.

The renovation at Victoria Gateway is not pleasant, a wide expanse of white concrete with trees that will take years to mature.

What arrangements are there in place to steam clean the concrete of the inevitable chewing gum?

Traffic movement is governed by the number of vehicles so the normal delays will continue as previously.

Incidentally, this area has never been Victoria Circus - that is at the junction of London Road and Southchurch Road opposite the Odeon Cinema.

David Barratt, Westcliff

A warning on road dangers

MAY I warn people in Southend of two very dangerous sections of road?

First, Earls Hall Parade where drivers are cutting through in front of the shops to save waiting at the Cuckoo Corner traffic lights.

Secondly, the slip road at the bottom of Colemans Avenue - leading to the animal hospital - where motorists are using the vets' run-in to access Prince Avenue.

I have seen vehicles speeding through both these areas while I was checking the number of cars using residential roads as rat runs.

It would seem that the £5m scheme intended to solve congestion problems has caused danger to pedestrians.

My preliminary surveys show that while roads like Colemans Avenue and Rochester Drive are just a busy as when Cuckoo Corner was a roundabout junction, Midhurst Avenue with its school entrance is 30 per cent worse.

This means 100 vehicles per hour past the gates when children are coming out of school.

When the surveys are complete, I will submit a formal request to Southend Borough Council Traffic and Parking Working Party for the reinstatement of the scheme for the protection of the entrance to Earls Hall School.

Ric Morgan, Westcliff

A waste of taxpayers' money

IF ANYBODY is in doubt about the way a council can waste millions of taxpayers' money, go and have a look at the concrete jungle they have just had built in Victoria Avenue.

I would like to ask why it was needed. Has it made the traffic flow any smoother? No. The scores of traffic lights see to that.

Has it improved the beauty of the avenue? No, because all the trees have been pulled down and replaced with what looks like pampas grass and concrete, oh and a telephone booth that will not be used because everyone these days has mobiles.

Were the same architects used that built the multi-coloured student building just around the corner used for this development? Because if they were, then the person or persons working for the council that employed them should, in my opinion, lose their jobs.

The whole of Victoria Avenue now is a parade of featureless buildings, many of which are standing empty.

And we now have added to this with a giant concrete roundabout to complement them. Well done, Southend Council.

David Brett, Westcliff

Why so many memorials to one unit?

I HAVE received an official answer from the UK National Inventory of War Memorials to my question of the number of Bomber Command memorials in existence - there are currently 81.

To my knowledge this number of 81 far exceeds any other single recognisable military unit in any of the three armed services.

I then discovered that there is to be yet another Bomber Command Memorial built in Green Park, Central London and backed by the Bee Gees' Barry Gibb!

Can you explain to me why it is that loss of life connected to the RAF has a greater value than all the other many military units and especially those that have spent many decades trying to get one memorial let alone 82, e.g. Arctic Convoys?

I have yet to understand why this particular group think their lives are more precious than any other fatality in war or peace!

Can't we just stick to the convention of each town or council having its own memorial gardens to its people lost in conflicts with no preference shown for any particular organisation?

A life laid down in national service is the same everywhere surely.

Evening crime reduced

By Karen Davis

NIGHTTIME crime in Southend has been reduced, thanks to a strong partnership approach, according to Southend's Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnership (CDRP).

Crime and anti-social behaviour between 6pm and 6am has been cut by one per cent and five per cent respectively in the period April 2010 - April 2011, compared to the previous year.

The organisation says that the success is a direct result of the local police, council and licensees all working together.

Inspector Leigh Norris, who oversees policing in the town centre and seafront areas, said: "We have worked closely with our partners from the night-time economy group to reduce crime and anti-social behaviour through Operation Magpie, which has seen increased patrols during weekend nights and bank holidays.

"We believe this high-visibility approach has also helped with early intervention, alcohol seizures, verbal warnings, use of dispersal tactics and arrests where appropriate."

The night-time economy group consists of officers from Essex Police, Southend Council's licensing team, local licensees and the Crime Reduction Initiative, amongst others.

Mr Norris added: "An increased use of the Behave or Be Banned scheme, body-worn cameras, town link radios, and the introduction of plastic bottles at nightclubs are great examples of proactive methods we have used to further reduce offences."

"The continued presence of the SOS Bus and street pastors at the weekend has also played a significant role."

A BOY endangered passenger's lives by hurling a stone at a moving bus.

At around 7pm on Friday, April 1, a stone struck a window of a number 9 Arriva bus as it drove along North Shoebury Road, Shoebury-bound, at the top of the railway bridge.

The suspect has been described as a white boy, aged about 14, 5ft 4ins tall and of medium build.

He had short brown hair and wore a navy blue bodywarmer over a navy blue hoodie.

After smashing the window and causing around £400 worth of damage, the boy ran off down a pathway leading to Delaware Road.

Investigating officer, PC Davis, can be contacted at Shoebury police station on 0300 333 4444.

Attempted robbery

A TEENAGER has been the victim of an attempted robbery on Canvey Island.

The 14-year-old boy was riding his bike along Long Road, at the junction with Village Drive, when a man approached him at 9.50pm on Thursday, April 7.

The man grabbed hold of the boy's handlebars and threatened violence if he didn't hand over his bike.

The suspect was a white man in his 20s with brown spiked hair - anyone with information should call PC Phil McCorkell at Southend police station on 0300 333 4444.

School burgled

The fight involved both men and women, and six were injured.

Three men received treatment at Southend General Hospital.

Police appeal after theft

POLICE are appealing for help to identify a man they would like to talk to about a theft.

The incident took place at Dickens Frames and Plants in Eastwoodbury Crescent, Southend, on Tuesday, March 29, at about 10.10am.

The thief made off over rear gardens along Eastwoodbury Lane, leaving the till itself and coins in some of the gardens.

If you have any information, contact PC George Rodway or a colleague at Leigh police station on 0300 333 4444 ext 37135.

BOXING CLASSES

Boxing Classes available Monday, Tuesday, Thursday @ 6.30pm
Ladies and Gents of all abilities welcome.

Boxing is an ideal way to get fit, build your stamina and release a bit of stress. Our classes are non-contact; our instructor will train you on bags and pads. If however you should want to spar, there is that opportunity at the end of the sessions. There is no pressure to do so.

KICKBOXING/Circuit

Pat O'Keef is our kickboxing instructor with many years of skill and experience.

These classes combine stretch, circuit and kickboxing training. Open to all abilities, male and female, another great stress buster and stamina building class. Again non contact, however if Pat feels you can cope he will invite you to the sparring session held on a Saturday morning.

Kickboxing is held on a Wednesday @ 7.30pm and Saturday Morning @ 10.00am. Sparring session runs after the class.

There are also Unarmed Combat Classes on a Monday @ 7.30pm Haganah on a Tuesday @ 8.00pm

If you are an instructor looking for a venue to run your class, why not give us a call. Maybe our place could be yours.

WHILE many of us have to contend with the odd embarrassing 'Twitpic' or Facebook photo, snaps of Kate Middleton on her Royal wedding day will be open to scrutiny by billions worldwide.

Luckily the bride-to-be will have assistants falling at her pedicured princess feet to ensure she looks super-groomed and camera-ready at all times.

The onset of summer brings with it invitations galore for special occasions sparking a photo frenzy. Whether it's weddings, christenings or a day at the races, the camera lens is never far away.

In addition to adding the dreaded 10 pounds, there's improper lighting and awkward angles to contend with as you're flashing your best smile. But all of these posing problems can be stacked in your favour with savvy wardrobe choices.

Sometimes proportions or colours that look great in person are not as flattering in a photo, so get ready, set, snap for your summer occasion close-ups with our 'do list'.

■ Do: Go for bright, solid colour pieces in a hue that's flattering against your skin tone.

Prints may be hot property this season but it's the block colour trend that will shine in your special occasion snaps.

Solid colours look best in photographs, especially vivid or bright blues. Jewel tones are always a good idea (particularly sapphire and emerald), but stay away from white, cream or even light beige, as these pale colours can make you look washed out in photos.

■ Do: Stay away from high-cut neck-lines, especially turtlenecks.

Cutting off your decolletage may look Parisian chic in the flesh, but high neck-lines can have a funny effect in photos.

No matter how svelte you are, a collarbone-covering blouse or dress will never look as flattering as a V-neck.

■ Do: Make sure your outfit is as crinkle-free as possible.

In high summer, we all reach for the sun-friendly fabrics but steer clear of crease-easy materials unless you're happy to carry a travel iron in your handbag!

While linen is lovely, it will make you look like a crumpled dinner napkin on camera. Instead, look for sturdier fabrics like crepe, tweed or wool blends, as they don't show wrinkles so easily.

■ Do: Opt for tailored pieces or show your silhouette with a belt.

This season's 70s fever has had the fashion world obsessing over floaty maxi frocks and palazzo pants, but you need to keep your silhouette in mind.

Instead of trapeze tops or shapeless frocks, look for structured pieces like a well-cut blazer, ideally in a dark neutral hue (like black, navy or charcoal) worn over a colourful blouse or dress.

■ Do: Wear more make-up than usual.

Once you've got the camera-friendly fashion sussed, don't forget the big picture! Make sure you've got your make-up wardrobe at the ready too.

You don't need to go for an over-the-top runway look, but be sure to do a little extra grooming when you know your picture will be taken.

A bright lip gloss and lots of mascara are definite musts - and don't forget the blush for extra radiance.

■ Do: Go for bright, solid colour pieces in a hue that's flattering against your skin tone.

Prints may be hot property this season but it's the block colour trend that will shine in your special occasion snaps.

Solid colours look best in photographs, especially vivid or bright blues. Jewel tones are always a good idea (particularly sapphire and emerald), but stay away from white, cream or even light beige, as these pale colours can make you look washed out in photos.

Cool crooner

by Jenny Green

DOMINIC Kirwan is one of Ireland's most famous exports. The entertainer has been at the top of his game for more than two decades now and to celebrate, he's embarking on a UK tour called Through The Years.

The Omagh-born singer will be on the road until June and next month, he'll be visiting Hornchurch to share some of his finest country, pop and traditional Irish songs.

"It's been a while since I've been to Hornchurch, but I always get a good reception there so it'll be nice to go back," Dominic says.

"I've been singing for more than 21 years now and although it only feels like it's been five minutes, I've recorded a lot of music."

"I've got 15 studio albums, compilations and five DVDs so I'll be playing a bit of everything on the tour."

Footage from Dominic's recent parachute jump to raise money for cancer research will also feature during the live show.

The father-of-four, who is seen as a bit of a heartthrob, started his musical career in local bands, which were all about 'socialising and getting to the girls'. But when Dominic was offered his first recording contract, things became a lot more serious.

Inevitably, he was compared to Ireland's other famous singing son, Daniel O'Donnell, but Dominic has gone on to prove he's his own man.

"It was really frustrating at first because I'm nothing like him," Dominic explains. "But the comparisons did open a lot of doors for me and I've been very lucky since."

Dominic Kirwan will be at the Queen's Theatre, Hornchurch, on Wednesday, May 4.

Tickets cost £18 - to book, call the box office on 01708 443333.

The Fall by Gorillaz
(out to buy now)

The Fall isn't your average album. Originally gifted to members of the Gorillaz fan club as a download, the band then decided to release the 15-track collection as a CD. The songs were all recorded during a tour of America last year and is more like a diary of that journey than anything else.

A taste of sunshine

DINERS at a Shoebury restaurant are enjoying a spot of sunshine thanks to its Mediterranean warmth and outstanding cuisine.

Chiquita restaurant, in West Road, has been bringing a breath of Iberia to Southend for the past nine years.

Its recipe for success is down to its owners, Augustin and Dora Souto, and the support of their staff. Both Augustin and Dora would like to thank diners for their continued support over the years, as its popularity, along with its friendly service and mouth-watering food, has led Chiquita to become the successful restaurant it is today.

The eatery, with its traditional décor and menu, is an ideal venue for a family outing, a friendly get together, a romantic evening or, indeed, any celebration.

Chiquita, which can comfortably seat up to 50 people, offers a range of excellently prepared traditional Spanish and continental dishes, as well as an impressive sweet trolley.

It has an extensive a la carte menu for diners to choose from including a wide choice of starters and main dishes, and a variety of desserts.

It also has a popular set menu, available from Monday to Friday, which offers a choice of starters, main courses and sweets from the trolley, for just £13.50 per person.

Chiquita is open from 6-11pm from Monday to Saturday, and from noon to 3pm on Sunday lunchtimes.

For further information, or to make a reservation, call Chiquita on 01702 297068 or visit its website at www.chiquitaspanishrestaurant.co.uk

Celebrate at The Chichester

THE Chichester, situated in open farmland in the village of Rawreth, is a charming and picturesque setting in which to celebrate any occasion.

Parties large and small are accommodated during Dinner and Disco evenings held in the 160-seat Tudor Restaurant on Fridays and Saturdays throughout the year. Even the largest parties are not required to pre-select meals as guests can order on the evening from the extensive three-course menu, before enjoying dancing from 10.30pm to 12.30am.

For private parties, The Chichester offers a fixed-price multi-choice menu (five starters, five main courses and five desserts) for up to 160 guests, or a buffet for up to 225 guests, and again pre-selection is not required.

The beautiful oak-beamed rooms of The Chichester provide a romantic and memorable backdrop for Civil Marriage Ceremonies and Wedding Receptions. Add to this the meticulous planning skills of the highly experienced catering team and the convenience of the adjoining 34 bedroom Chichester Hotel, and you have to agree that The Chichester is the ideal wedding venue.

Sunday Luncheon in the Tudor Restaurant is an ideal occasion for family celebrations when perhaps an evening may not be best for the elderly or infirm. There are excellent disabled facilities. Meals in the Stable Bar on Sundays are à la carte.

The Chichester's booking office is open from 9.30am to 5pm, Monday to Friday, and from 9.30am to 12.30pm at the weekend.

We've had lucky timing from the moment we arrived in Nepal. After checking in at Kathmandu's Royal Singi Hotel, we headed straight for the streets, where it seemed the entire city had gathered. Everybody was headed for Durbar Square, where hundreds had already claimed seats on the temple steps, forming row upon row of vivid pink, turquoise and red.

At the climax of the Hindu Indra Jatra festival, we glimpse the living goddess. She is five years old, her gilded adornments almost bigger than she is - and for a few split seconds she is held up, kohl-rimmed eyes flashing towards her adoring fans, before being whisked

TRAVEL FACTS

Abigail was a guest of Exodus, whose 14-night 'Annapurna and Chitwan' itinerary includes trekking, an elephant back safari and canoeing. away again.

Travelling with action-adventure company Exodus, we agree that tackling Everest would be foolish without months of preparation.

Hundreds of people attempt it each year - and some perish along the way - but you don't have to be a serious mountaineer to enjoy a trek, and there's an easier way, too: get up at the crack of dawn and catch a rickety little plane, which gives you a guided tour of the peaks from the sky.

Our two-day trek in the Annapurna region opens with a stroll through Bandipur village before we head towards Nayapal.

Three guides escort us, one of whom, Kaji, is a Sherpa who's conquered Everest three times.

He probably runs up routes like this in his sleep - backwards - yet resists any urge to snigger at panting city slickers.

It's tough, but the hard work is well worth it - by the time our trek is over, the peaks of Annapurna One and Fishtail are right there.

The final leg of our tour sees us hit the roads again, heading south to Chitwan National Park, where we spot rhinos, crocodiles and elephants.

There's a long drive back to Kathmandu to catch the flight home and already I am sad to be leaving, but I know I'll be back...

ASK THE AGENT

ALAN KIRKMAN

Q. As an estate agent, do you believe it is worth installing solar panels?

A. If you're asking about value for money, then the short answer is "almost certainly not" – particularly if you are planning to move any time soon.

If that sounds a bit blunt, let me explain. Of course, it can be argued that anything which helps cut fuel bills will enhance the saleability of a home, and all other things being equal that may well be true. However, as with any other expensive home improvement – and an electricity-generating photovoltaic (pv) system can easily set you back a 5-figure sum – you will never fully recoup the cost when you sell.

But what if you are planning to stay put for a while? On solar water-heating, opinion is pretty evenly split between those who swear by it, and claim that their systems will pay for themselves within as little as 4 or 5 years, and those who claim the opposite. Back in 2008, for example, the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors published an energy efficiency report which maintained that it could take anything up to 100 years to recoup the initial outlay – with systems which only have a useful lifespan of 30 years in the first place! Although this report caused a great deal of controversy, I think it's only fair to say that the jury is therefore still out as far as the economics of solar water heating is concerned.

When it comes to pv systems, the economic case is weaker still. Indeed, arguably the only thing keeping the industry going is the artificially inflated price which your local electricity company is currently obliged to pay you for any daytime surplus electricity you manage to generate (and which everyone else pays for through higher utility bills!). I say "currently" because, not surprisingly, the Government is now reconsidering this subsidy.

Of course, some people believe that doing your bit to save the planet is far more important than value for money. If you're one of them, and if you can afford it, then by all means install solar panels. At the very least, they'll make you feel good.

If, on the other hand, your main concern is to find ways to reduce your energy costs, then I suggest you invest in decent loft insulation instead!

ALAN KIRKMAN is Director of Essex TEAM – part of the UK's largest branded network of independent estate agents, with 50 computer-linked offices across the county and 500 more nationwide. Managing Director of Tudor Estates in Southend, Alan has been an Estate Agent for over 25 years.

'Bank of mum and dad': investing in their future

With a growing number of would-be first time buyers struggling to buy a new home, many parents are looking carefully at ways in which they can provide a potential nest egg for the future of their children, by supplying the necessary funds required to help them get that crucial first foot onto the property ladder.

But while parents are keen to make their children's future a priority of their financial planning, by putting cash aside to help their child buy their first home, it can be very difficult to raise the large cash deposits now required to gain access to even the most basic of mortgage products.

Consequently, a growing number of first time buyers, with the support of their parents, are turning their attentions to the affordable homes sector, with a view to buying a cheaper home, according to the sales and marketing director of housing association Thames Valley Housing.

Kush Rawal comments: "Whilst utilising the bank of mum and dad is a common occurrence in today's tough first time buyer market, it is still understandably very difficult for parents to find a spare £30,000 or so for a child's deposit. Most current first time buyers are gathering contributions from parents or grandparents, mixed with their savings and perhaps the funds of a joint buyer such as a sibling, friend or partner.

"Thames Valley Housing is currently noting a slight increase in the number of parents helping children onto the property ladder through purchasing a shared ownership property. Buyers can purchase from 25 per cent of a new home, which means finding a deposit from £5,900 for a one-bedroom property in our current portfolio of shared ownership offerings. This is a dramatically more affordable figure to ask for from the bank of mum and dad."

Tenant Question

Earlier this year the combination boiler in our rented house stopped working, so we had no hot water or central heating. The only heating in the house was the electric fire in the front room. We rang our landlord and he said it had happened before and said we needed to top up the water pressure in the boil via small tap on the boiler. We could not find this tap anywhere and called him back. He then said he was not prepared to pay a plumber to come out for such a small task and said he would come over the following day. Five days later he turned up saying he had got something in his eye and had to go to hospital and could not drive. Meanwhile we had had no heating and no hot water for almost a week during one of the coldest parts of the year. Can I refuse to pay rent for those five days or reduce my rent, or even end my contract early?

Think Property Reply

It is the landlord's responsibility to ensure that the boiler is working correctly for the provision of hot water and heating – under the statute of section 11 of the Landlord & Tenant Act 1985. The landlord is expected to attend to the problem within a reasonable amount of time, once he is notified of the problem.

In this case, it appears that the boiler cut out due to a drop in water pressure. The landlord should have attended to the problem by showing you how to bring the water pressure up to the required level, and then you would have then known how to rectify the problem in the future.

If the boiler keeps cutting out, there may be a fault and that will require the landlord to repair the problem under section 11. If the landlord does not attend to the repair for which he is liable under section 11, then the tenant's best option is to contact the local authority housing standards team or the environmental health team. They can inspect the property and contact the landlord about the repair.

The landlord has now resolved this problem but you were without water and heating for five days. You could try and negotiate with the landlord about paying a lower rent for that period but I would not advise you to stop paying rent for that period as it would lead to rent arrears.

If you are in a fixed term of the tenancy, and you leave early without the agreement of the landlord, you could be pursued, through court action, for any rent outstanding up until the end of the fixed term.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', ('T') etc. in the advertisement.
3. Advertisers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the account department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. BMW makes bid for three-dom

by Steve Walker

THE positioning of the X3, sandwiched between the X1 and the X5 in BMW's 4x4 line-up, presents it with a particular set of problems.

If it gets too big or flashy, it risks tap dancing on the toes of the larger X5. Make it too affordable though and the point of the compact X1 is called into question.

The kind of balancing act that the X3 has to pull off is nothing new - manufacturers are constantly struggling to achieve the perfect equilibrium in their model ranges.

The latest X3 is larger, plusher and no more expensive, which sounds great. Excellent engines and strong efficiency also count in its favour, along with a generous equipment list.

A solid product in its own right, the question is whether it will have the space to shine in BMW's tightly packed 4x4 range.

The X3 is probably best described as a premium compact 4x4. That is a compact 4x4 sized vehicle with a premium badge and a price tag to match. It's not a car with a huge number of direct rivals because although there are numerous compact 4x4 models out there these days, only a handful can match the badge equity of that BMW roundel.

Despite occupying a niche that's relatively sparsely populated, the X3 has had a chequered history.

The original car was regularly accused of deliberately dumbing down so as not to effect sales of the X5 luxury 4x4. Some disliked the looks, others felt the interior was too dowdy but it still proved far from unsuccessful.

The arrival of the X1 - an even smaller BMW 4x4 - made the task facing this second generation X3 even more difficult, but BMW is banking on an increase in size, efficiency and quality helping it find its place in the world.

Unlike the vast X5 which relies on six and eight cylinder engines, the X3 is also available with some of BMW's best four-pot units. The big seller is virtually certain to be the xDrive20d model with a 181bhp version of BMW's 2.0-litre diesel installed.

There are lots of diesel engines out there with this kind of capacity but this has to be the best with 380Nm of torque helping the substantial X3 through 62mph in 8.5s.

You can also talk to your dealer about an xDrive23d variant which uses a similar engine but with twin turbochargers helping it to 201bhp. There are no petrol options.

All X3 models in the UK are four-wheel-drive but there is a choice of gearboxes. Both the six-speed manual that comes as standard and the eight-speed automatic come with an automatic start-stop function as standard to save fuel.

The independent suspension has been redesigned for these second generation cars and BMW's Drive Dynamic Control system is available as an option.

The DDC previously seen on a number of BMW's other products allows drivers to switch between Normal, Sport and Sport+ modes to alter the set-up of the vehicle. Adaptive dampers adjust the ride and body control, throttle response and steering weight are altered, automatic gearshifts are varied in speed and the DSC stability control system is tweaked, transforming the drive.

To fit more neatly into the gap between the X1 and the X5, the X3 has grown in its latest guise. Not too much, but there is 78mm of extra length taking the total up to 4,648mm and 14mm of extra height extending the roof up to 1,675mm above the ground.

The wheelbase is also increased by 15mm and owners will feel the benefit in the shape of a 550-litre boot that's 70 litres larger than in the old car.

BMW also claims significantly enhanced leg and elbow room across a three-seater rear bench which splits 60:40 and can fold down when not in use to increase the luggage capacity to 1,600l.

Design wise, the X3 doesn't do anything too dramatic. It's more of an amalgamation of features from the X1, X5 and the previous X3 but there's nothing wrong with that.

Naturally, the kidney grille takes pride of place on the nose but there might be a hint of Audi about those rectangular headlamps with pointy corners (don't mention this to your BMW dealer).

The interior quality has been increased with more upmarket trim choices and the latest switchgear as seen previously on the 3 Series.

Pricing looks pretty competitive but remember this is a 'premium' compact 4x4, not your mainstream Toyota RAV4, Nissan X-Trail, Honda CR-V fare.

All X3 models trundle off the production line with leather upholstery, two-zone climate control and a colour screen display with the iDrive menu-driven control system.

Pay a little extra and desirable options like a powered tailgate, a heads-up display, a reversing camera and a panoramic sunroof are available.

The difficult middle child in BMW's 4x4 range, the X3 is now looking to break free from the shadow of its siblings in second generation guise.

The recipe wasn't changed too dramatically but an increase in size and practicality is welcome, especially in conjunction with efficiency improvements and a more upmarket interior.

The technology contained within the X3 helps the car stand out, even if you'll need to explore the options list to get some of the more desirable features.

Hard shoulder tips

HARD shoulders on busy roads continue to be one of the most dangerous places for motorists to break down.

While current statistics indicate that the message is getting across and the number of casualties at the roadside decreasing, more than 1,500 people are killed or injured each year on the hard shoulder.

Many people continue to be unaware of the risks of being on the hard shoulder of a busy road or motorway, either in a car or on foot.

This is a particular issue for the vehicle recovery organisations, as Nigel Charlesworth from Green Flag explains.

"When people tell us they have broken down, we aim to them as quickly as possible," he says.

"In fact, our priority is to get the passengers and vehicle off the hard shoulder and to a safe location.

"Only when everyone is safe will we attempt any repair."

National road safety charity chief executive, Mary Williams, adds: "Every death on the hard shoulder is one too many.

"Anyone who breaks down on a hard shoulder is in a very vulnerable situation and it is vital that they follow essential advice to reduce the risk of them being hurt."

The Highway Code stipulates that you must not stop on the carriageway, hard shoulder, slip road, central reservation or verge except in an emergency, or when told to do so by the police, an emergency sign or by flashing red light.

Common reasons for motorists stopping on hazardous positions include checking their map, using a mobile phone or visiting the toilet. Each of these actions could result in the police issuing a penalty.

In January, Warwickshire Central Motorway Police fined Rachel Farthing from Leicestershire £30 after she stopped on the hard shoulder to ask directions.

If you do have to use the hard shoulder, here is some advice:

- Park as close to the left as possible and try to stop near an emergency phone if possible.
- Stop with your steering wheel turned to the left, away from passing traffic.
- Put on your hazard warning lights to ensure that other drivers see you.
- Do not remain inside the vehicle - instead get out by the passenger door and wait on a verge away from traffic. Stand behind barriers for added protection.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. See the Standard Conditions.

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', ('T') etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date / day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rates of advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexecuted portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are given for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, stamp or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertisements must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone and not permit the use of a postscript.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Blues dish out a drubbing to Bantams

Southend United

SOUTHEND United kept their faint play off hopes alive with a 4-0 drubbing of Bradford City at Roots Hall on Friday night.

Ryan Hall signed a new two-year contract with the club this week and celebrated it in style with a brace in the comprehensive win.

After a cagey start to the match, Graham Coughlan had the first clear cut chance of the match on 19 minutes, but his close range header from Sean Clohessy's cross was saved by Jon McLaughlin in the City goal.

However, the deadlock was broken 10 minutes later. Harry Crawford's burst into the box was halted by Luke O'Brien's clumsy challenge and Barry Corr stepped up to score his 16th League goal of the season from the resulting spot kick.

The Blues doubled their lead two minutes before half time when Hall let fly from 25 yards and the ball took a deflection on its way past McLaughlin.

Bradford have never won at Roots Hall and although it looked unlikely they would this time, they put in more effort after the break.

Tom Adeyemi forced Glen Morris into his first save of the game and the Southend stopper then saved at the feet of Scott Dobie.

But any hopes of a comeback from the Bantams were dashed on 66 minutes when Hall's cross into the box was headed home by Kane Ferdinand.

The result was done and dusted four minutes later when Hall beat the onrushing McLaughlin to the ball and with the keeper now out of his box, calmly slotted it home.

Anthony Grant almost added a fifth with a driving run and shot, but McLaughlin managed to get enough on it to put the ball onto the bar.

Bradford also hit the woodwork in the closing stages from Robbie Threlfall's free kick, but the game was already over as a contest.

Blues boss Paul Sturrock was very pleased with the result. He said: "Our home form has been turned around and rejuvenated and I'm glad everyone has taken on board my criticisms.

"That team out there, when they play right, have some ability."

Southend are back in Friday night action this week when Stevenage Borough are the visitors to Roots Hall.

WINNER: Ryan Hall is congratulated by teammates after scoring Southend's fourth goal.

Irons beaten late on

West Ham United

A STOPPAGE time winner from Gabriel Agbonlahor broke the hearts of West Ham as Aston Villa made sure of their Premier League safety on Saturday.

Keeper Robert Green looked to have earned the Hammers a point with a string of top class saves, but Agbonlahor's 91st minute header took Villa up to ninth and left the Irons two points from safety.

It had been a great start from West Ham, taking the lead after just two minutes. Thomas Hitzlsperger headed the ball back into the box after a half-cleared corner and Robbie Keane turned and fired past Brad Friedel.

The attacking Irons continued to cause problems with Carlton Cole and Gary O'Neil going close.

However, the visitors came back into the game more as the half went on with Ashley Young increasingly influential.

The England winger had an effort blocked by Green before Darren Bent had a goal harshly ruled out for offside.

But he did not have to wait long for the equaliser. Mark Noble lost possession in his own box on 36 minutes and Luke Young crossed for Bent to nod home past Green.

Villa were in total control in the second half as the Hammers wilted in the heat. Young and Bent both tested Green before James Collins had an effort cleared by Cole.

Green again denied Young with an excellent stop before Bent shot just wide.

However, everything that was thrown at the West Ham goal seemed to be blocked, until the 91st minute.

Young collected the ball on the right and was given the time and space to pick his cross which Agbonlahor headed past the unlucky Green.

West Ham stay above Wolves on goal difference at the foot of the Premier League table, but the Midlands side hold a game in hand.

The Irons go to Chelsea on Saturday.

Clarets beaten by Farnborough, Thurrock in drop zone

Non-League Football

CHELMSFORD City slipped out of the Blue Square South play-offs on Saturday following their 1-0 home defeat to second place Farnborough.

Dale Binn's effort on 69 minutes was enough to see the Clarets slip from fifth down to seventh.

Meanwhile, Thurrock dropped into the relegation zone following their 2-1 defeat at home to fellow strugglers Maidstone United.

Dean Cracknell (23) equalised for Fleet after Anthony Thomas' penalty opened proceedings on four minutes, but Max Worsfold (90) denied Thurrock the share of the spoils late on.

Canvey Island moved into third place, and in turn dented AFC Hornchurch's bid for the play-offs, after beating them 3-0 in Ryman League Premier.

Leon Gordon put the Gulls ahead after 27 minutes and the game was settled in the 70th minute when Urchins keeper Darren Behcet was sent off for upending Gordon.

Rob King stepped up to score the resulting penalty, while Danny Heale made it three with eight minutes to go.

Concord Rangers' play-off hopes took a hit after suffering a surprise 2-0 defeat over relegation battlers Maidstone United. Dean Stubbs and Laurence Harvey did the damage.

They find themselves four points adrift of the play-offs along with Billericay Town, who went down 1-0 at Wealdstone. Peter Dean grabbed the solitary goal on 23 minutes, while Billericay's Chris Wild saw red.

Aveley remain in relegation trouble, drawing 1-1 with Margate.

Kenny Beaney gave the Millers the lead with a 62nd-minute penalty, but Tom Bradbrook equalised with six minutes to go.

Waltham Forest looked doomed to relegation from Ryman League Division One North, but look to go out in style. Forest found themselves 5-2 down at half-time at Waltham Abbey, but ran out of time after pulling the game back to 5-4.

Emmanuel Osei scored a hat-trick for Abbey inside the first 36 minutes, with Louis Bristow also scoring in that time.

Billy Healey had equalised for Forest shortly after Osei's opener, with Joel Palmer's goal narrowing the gap before Tyler Campbell added Abbey's fifth.

Josh Bonnett pulled it back to 5-3 on the hour and struck again with a penalty which resulted in the sending off of Jack Daveney.

At the top, Hakeem Araba's double earned a home point for leaders East Thurrock United against third-place Brentwood Town.

Darren Blewitt put the visitors ahead on 19 minutes, with Sos Yao doubling the lead ten minutes after the break.

But Araba opened his account with a goal on 65 minutes, before getting the equaliser with 18 minutes to go.

Rocks are seven points clear of Needham Market - who were not in action - and only need to win one of their remaining three games to secure promotion.

Alex Osborn followed up his five-goal haul in Grays Athletics' 9-0 mid-week thrashing of Cheshunt with a headed 47th-minute opener at Ilford. Eljay Worrell completed a 2-0 win.

Heybridge Swifts went down 2-1 at play-off hopefuls Harlow Town. Bertie Brayley volleyed Harlow into a half-time lead, and after Luke Callander's 65th minute leveller, Lee Roache soon replied with the winner.

Great Wakering Rovers also lost to a play-off chasing team, in this case 4-0 against AFC Sudbury with James Baker and Dubi Ogbonna each scoring doubles.

Maldon & Tiptree also remain in the play-off chase thanks to their 2-0 win over Romford.

Paul Kavanagh missed a penalty for Boro who were made to play thanks to goals from Chris Chase and Joe Sweeney.

Redbridge banished relegation fears, winning 3-1 at Cheshunt. Manlee Brown, Kyle-Fraser Allen and Julian Edwards scored for the Motormen, with Peter Antoniades grabbing Cheshunt's consolation.

Tilbury suffered disappointment, losing 2-0 at home to Ware with Ryan Wade scoring a double.

Rugby Union

Barking run in 10 tries, while Southend win too

BARKING ran in 10 tries as they thrashed Sedgeley Park 75-7 at Goresbrook on Saturday.

Scott Shaw scored four tries on his return to National League One action, as Barking scored a bonus-point victory to keep the pressure on leaders London Scottish.

Southend sit comfortably in fourth place in National League Two South following their 42-20 victory over mid-table Lydney.

Mike Stanley scored two tries to set Southend on their way, along with a double from Perry Sanson to secure the bonus point and a Chris Vaughan try.

Lydney fought back in the second half with three tries from Josh Hannan, Jack O'Connell and James McMahon, before Stanley got his hat-trick late on.

In London One North, champions Westcliff ended their league campaign in style with a 39-0 victory over Chingford.

Woodford finish bottom after suffering a heavy 70-23 loss at Ruislip, while Thurrock end the season in fifth, despite losing 49-22 at third place Bury St Edmunds.

Eton Manor ended the season on a high, beating Colchester 26-15, while Brentwood were narrowly edged out 29-28 by Old Colfeians.

Two teams from Essex will represent the county in cup finals this season.

Romford & Gidea Park beat fellow London Two North East side Braintree 41-32 to make the London & SE Intermediate Cup Final where they will play Aylesford Bulls.

In the London & SE Senior Vase Semi-Final, Basildon beat London Three North East rivals Lowestoft & Yarmouth 17-10 to play Teddington in the final.

Launch of new food waste campaign this Spring!

According to a recent survey 52% of Southend residents recycle food waste every week. This is fantastic news but we would like more residents to start recycling food waste to prevent it from going to landfill (where it generates methane, a potent greenhouse gas) and to help Southend towards its target of 60% recycling by 2015.

Food waste collections are now being introduced to a number of flats in the area. Collections have begun at 25 South Essex Homes properties and will be rolled out to more flats over the next few months.

We are holding a series of events to highlight the importance of food waste recycling in Southend. We held our first event, a food waste workshop for Recycling Champions, at the Civic Centre on 23rd March and will be at the following locations in April and May:

- Wednesday 27th April, Asda, North Shoebury Road, 10.00am to 3.00pm
- Wednesday 11th May, Waitrose, Fossetts Way, 10.00am to 3.00pm
- Saturday 14th May, Love Food Hate Waste cookery demonstration, Victoria Circus, 10.30am to 4.00pm

Recycling at Easter

Easter is the biggest chocolate-selling period after Christmas. An average of 80 million Easter eggs are sold in the UK each year. This may sound like chocolate heaven, but according to the Waste and Resources Action Programme (WRAP), cardboard and silver foil from Easter eggs generates around 4,500 tonnes of waste in the UK each year!

Although many retailers, brands and manufacturers are making an effort to reduce packaging, we encourage you to recycle as much as possible this Easter. You can recycle clean foil, card and plastic trays in your pink recycling sacks, as well as sweet and biscuit tins. If you would like more information about what else you can recycle in Southend-on-Sea this Easter please visit www.southend.gov.uk/recycling

Finding out how textiles are recycled

In February, Southend's Recycling Champions visited LMB, a textile recycling facility in Canning Town. Here the Champions discovered what happened to textiles that are placed in the mini-recycling banks in Southend-on-Sea. Each item arriving at the facility is hand checked and sorted according to the type of item.

From 1st April 2011 ALL visitors must bring a Driving Licence or Council Tax bill to access the sites.

Commercial type vehicles at the HWRCs

We would like to remind you of the changes regarding 'commercial type' vehicle access to the Household Waste Recycling Centres (HWRCs). Commercial, business or trade waste is not accepted at any Southend-on-Sea HWRC, however we recognise that some householders only have access to a 'commercial type' vehicle for their domestic use. 'Commercial type' vehicles need to complete and submit a Household Waste Declaration Form as well as present valid proof of address – either a Driving Licence or current Council Tax bill.

This procedure has been introduced to prevent trade waste from being illegally deposited at the HWRCs.

To download or request a form please visit www.southend.gov.uk/hwdf or telephone 01702 215006.

condition and material. Items that can be reused are exported across the world where they are traded within local communities. Where items are not suitable for reuse, they are recycled into industrial rags, or sent for flocking or felting. Recycling Champion and Leigh-on-Sea Town Councillor Pat Holden said: "I cannot believe the amount of care that goes into the sorting of the textiles, there are about 162 categories and a lot of people involved in the process. It was a great trip."

If you would like to become a Recycling Champion please contact Rutendo Chitiga on 07894 515875 or email rutendochitiga@sauceconsultancy.co.uk

Alternatively, head to our Facebook page for further information – search for 'Southend Recycling Champions'.
